All - The custom audit button is now visible in the Audit Pane for all returns, even those without system generated audits.

All - The ability to Save changes to the Address Schedule and Filing Information Schedule for all companies or groups is available by default to users with administrative permissions. The new permission may be added to any existing role by going to Tool > Roles Wizard.

All - In previous versions of the software, if you were importing a database from a file that included the GTS, the assessment input schedules may not have imported properly. This has been corrected.

September 21, 2017

All - The program files update includes general performance enhancements.

August 31, 2017

All - This update includes an automatic archive function for the 2013-2014 tax year. When you initiate the update process, you will be prompted to archive the applicable tax year before you can proceed with the update. If you select yes to archive, the software will prompt you to add the 2013-2014 tax year to the previous archive file for 2012-2013. If you choose yes, please browse to the zip file that was created for the 2012-2013 Archive. If you choose no, you will be prompted to create a new zip file that contains the necessary program and product files for the applicable archived tax year. You will then be prompted to save the archive file. Data will not be removed from the database during this process. If you need to access the archived version of the software, you can unzip the files to a new directory. A separate instance of Premium Pro Enterprise will then exist for the years included in the archive. Detailed instructions will be provided in the Enterprise Help Files.

All - Previously, the audit icon was not properly displaying the corresponding red color when there were unresolved audits for an open return. This issue has been corrected.

July 20, 2017

All - This update includes a new version of the Java Runtime Environment (JRE 1.8). This upgrade will allow us to continue providing you with new features in the software along with a more secure environment.

All - Users can now drag and drop attachments from an email to a return in the Active tree.
